FORMER LABOUR DEPUTY LEADER SHOCKED BY HOSPITAL DELAYS

Former deputy Prime Minister John Prescott said he was left shocked by the conditions at Northampton General Hospital (NGH) during a visit there to see an ill sister.

Mr Prescott, who was a Labour MP for 40 years, said he witnessed dozens of patients, many elderly, confused and frightened, on trolleys "crammed in every direction" when he went to visit his sister Viv, aged 70, who was recovering from a heart attack.

The Mercury's sister paper, the Chronicle & Echo, reported earlier this month that NGH was dealing with its busiest-ever winter, with a sharp increase in elderly patients suffering breathing problems.

Writing in last weekend's Sunday Mirror, Lord Prescott said he "wasn't prepared for the shock of seeing all the beds in the corridors".

He added: "I've seen elderly people waiting before but nothing like this.

"I saw anxiety in people's faces – the fear and anger that they are waiting and of the uncertainty – and I realised the doctors and nurses have to deal with that every day.

"It wasn't just the A&E centre. They had spilled out into corridors where the nurses were getting on with treating patients."

Lord Prescott said he was worried about the attitude of one member of staff at the hospital he encountered.

He said: "A woman said she hoped I didn't have a camera. She must have thought I was looking for stories. She should have been concerned about patients. I was just going to see my dying sister and was grateful for what the hospital was doing.

She apologised and offered a complaint form, but I told her she didn't need to do that. I knew they were under pressure."

Lord Prescott said hospitals struggle to discharge recovering patients because they still needed some care and have nowhere else to go.

He said: "My sister was in intensive care. When she began to recover, they wanted to move her one floor down, but they couldn't. It was blocked with the bed blocking.

"The only way out of this situation is politicians making a bold, long-term move to protect the NHS."

Northampton General Hospital Chief Executive Dr Sonia Swart said levels of demand had been unprecedented in January.

She said: "Despite the trolleys in corridors and the waiting times, we continued at all times to provide safe care."

Former MP John Prescott said he saw too many patients on trolleys on corridors on a visit to hospital in Northampton

Laura Pell shows a picture of how she looked before fluid retention added eight stone to her weight.

‘My year of hell’ due to unknown illness

A 34-year-old woman from Northampton says she has gone through “a year of hell” after her weight increased by eight stone due to an undiagnosed condition that is causing her to retain fluid.

Laura Pell, of Kingsthorpe, has been battling with a mysterious health problem that has led to rapid fluid retention, high blood pressure and an irregular heartbeat.

Despite several weeks of treatment in hospital and being prescribed with medication to ease the fluid retention, Ms Pell’s condition has not improved.

After exhausting all treatment routes available on the NHS, Ms Pell is now raising money for a private medical appointment to see a specialist who may be able to diagnose the cause of the problem.

Ms Pell said: “The last year has been hell.

“The doctor’s don’t know how to decrease the fluid. It is absolute agony and I am struggling to move. Walking is near enough impossible. I have no quality of life. I can’t trust my body to get me to the end of the road.

“I’m 34 years old but I feel like a 90-year-old.”

Ms Pell said she had suffered from a number of health problems throughout her life due to having a Primary Immune Deficiency and has overcome meningitis, tuberculosis, pneumonia and Clostridium Difficile in the past.

However, she said the fluid retention, known as oedema, was agony on a daily basis. She believes her problems may be down to a tumour on her pituitary gland but has been unable to get an appointment to have this removed via the NHS.

She is now hoping to raise the money she needs to see a private neurosurgeon and endocrinologist to see if she can have an operation to remove the tumour or to find if any other treatment for her condition might be available.

Ms Pell said: “I look forward to the day when I won’t feel defined by my bad health, looking forward to a lot less pain. It’s really crushing my spirit to be honest.

“I can’t move without pain or sweating and getting more puffy.”

Friends set up Facebook page to fund treatment

■ A Facebook group has been set up by Laura Pell’s friends in a bid to raise the money to help her fund two appointments to see private specialists.

■ The group, called ‘Laura needs our help’, currently has more than 500 members and enough money has already been raised to see a private neurosurgeon.

■ However, each private appointment is expensive, so Ms Pell is appealing for donations to raise funds for an appointment with an endocrinologist.

■ Ms Pell’s friends are also hoping to organise a fund-raising event to help cover the cost of the appointments and any additional medical treatment.

■ If you would like to donate money to help fund Ms Pell’s private appointment, use the Paypal address leedrayton@rocketmail.com

Family seeks answers

A father-of-two, who died mysteriously after a night out in Northampton in 2005, had been mugged, police have told his family.

Almost 10 years after the death of Dean Knight, who was found unconscious outside his home in Matchless Close, in Duston, on April 29, his family are again appealing for anyone who has information to come forward.

Mr Knight, a former forklift driver, had received a serious head injury while on a night out in Northampton and he died four days later in an Oxford hospital, aged 36.

When he was found on his driveway, he showed no other signs of injury apart from a small graze on an arm.

But his son, Sean, who was aged 10 at the time, has now revealed that, after asking police for all the evidence they collected, the force confirmed his father had been mugged on the night of the attack.

Although four arrests were made in connection with the case, no charges were made.

Dean Knight.

It has also emerged that among other evidence, a neighbour saw Mr Knight being dropped off by a white van.

Sean said: "The police came over and showed us CCTV footage of dad staggering down Gold Street, holding his head, after leaving the Chicago Rock Cafe [which has since closed] on the Market Square.

"It shows him a bit later in Limehurst Square, in Duston, but then he disappears.

"The eyewitness accounts are a bit jumbled, but one of his neighbours said they saw him get dropped off at the house at around 7am by a white van and it looked like the driver was watching him.

"An hour later he had gone and then an hour after that they saw him lying in the driveway."

Sean and his sister, Anna, now aged 17, who grew up with their grandmother, Angela Jeffery, arrived to stay with Mr Knight just as he was found.

Mrs Jeffery, aged 62, said: "We passed the ambulance leaving as we were coming up the road towards the house, but we didn't think anything of it at the time.

"When neighbours told us what had happened, we went straight to Northampton General Hospital and I visited him every day.

"He was moved to Oxford and died on March 3. When it happened, Dean and I sat outside together and sobbed."

Police believe that Mr Knight was robbed after leaving the club as his driver's licence and wallet were re-

to Dean's tragic death

Sean Knight and his grandmother, Angela Jeffery, are still looking for answers 10 years after Dean Knight died following a night out in Northampton covered in Harlestone Road.

Mrs Jeffery said: "All he had in his pockets when he was found was a penny. He didn't even have the keys to get into his house. Just before the attack he had been on a trip with his father and was really looking forward to having his children over for the weekend.

"I am very bitter about it because I don't think police tried hard enough to find those responsible for his death. They made four arrests, but then said they didn't have enough evidence. I haven't been able to sleep properly in the 10 years since it happened."

The inquest into Mr

Knight's death recorded an open verdict and the pathologist said he had sustained fatal head injuries, consistent with a heavy blow.

Some evidence had suggested that Mr Knight could have accidentally fallen from a wheelie bin, but this has never been accepted by his family.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

ADVERTISEMENT

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Trevor Skidmore feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Northampton, Kettering, Wellingborough & Corby areas and Trevor is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Trevor a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Town 'can be proud of new railway station'

The new Northampton Railway station is something the whole town can be proud of, MP Brian Binley said.

The leaders of Northampton Borough and Northamptonshire County Councils, as well as the town's mayor and two MPs were all at the new station on Monday morning for its long-awaited first day of being open to commuters.

Transport Minister Patrick McLoughlin also visited the station on its first day and unveiled a plaque to mark the official opening.

Conservative MP for Northampton South, Mr Binley, who is also the chairman of the Northampton Rail Users Group, said the station would benefit businesses in the town.

He said: "We have now got a station we can be proud of. When people come to the town to do business they will be impressed and we certainly couldn't say that about the last station. We have now got a railway station where commuters are going to feel comfortable."

Conservative MP for Northampton North, Michael Ellis, said: "This is a fantastic new station and a new investment in Northampton."

"None of this would have been possible without a £15 million investment of money from the Government."

"It is great news for commuters and is a 50-year investment in the town."

ment in the town."

Sally Keeble, prospective Labour candidate for Northampton North, said she was impressed with the new station, but would have liked to have seen access made even easier for disabled people.

She said: "I think this is an important first stage of a chain of development and it will help regenerate the town."

'My garden is not part of my village'

A disabled man has been stopped from building a bungalow on his property in Northamptonshire because his garden now falls outside the village boundary.

Carl Weininger, aged 62, of West Haddon, has polio and severe injuries caused by a motorbike accident and wants to build a bungalow in his garden so he can rent out his house, but remain living independently in the same place.

However, Daventry District Council's local plan – which sets out the official village confines to prevent over development – has drawn the boundary through his property, leaving his house in West Haddon but his garden in open countryside.

It means any development in his garden is banned under rules to stop 'infill' which means the long-term joining-up of villages by building houses round their edges.

Carl Weininger's property in West Haddon (within yellow lines) has been split in two by the village boundary (shown by red line)

Mr Weininger said: "The logic defeats me.

"How can my house be in a village yet my garden not be? The line zig-zags round my house yet nobody seems to be able to tell me why it couldn't have been drawn a few metres the other way."

Mr Weininger said he was particularly puzzled because permission for a developer to build 100 new homes beyond the village boundary – between Northampton Road and Guilsborough Road – were approved on appeal last month.

The planning inspector who overturned the decision said he did so because the homes would significantly address a shortage of houses in West Haddon.

Mr Weininger said: "All I really wanted was to build a home that would make living more manageable in future years and keep me out of hospital. I hate the thought of becoming a burden on the state, but it seems I'm being forced down that road."

Saints in stand deal

Saints have asked the company employed to construct the delayed East Stand at Sixfields stadium to build the new Barwell Stand at Franklin's Gardens.

The club announced that it had signed a letter of intent for Buckingham Group Contracting Ltd to build the new 1,900-seat stand during this summer.

Work will begin immediately after the end of the current season, with seating and a control room expected to be completed in time for the start of the 2015/16 Aviva Premiership season, with the hospitality boxes and Sturtridge Suite set to open in December.

Buckingham Group are the firm being employed to build the East Stand at Sixfields, which was originally scheduled for completion in October 2014.

However progress has been halted by a three-month suspension of work due to a legal dispute between the club and First Land, the contractors who are in charge of the project and who employed Buckingham Group.

An artist's impression of the new Barwell Stand at Franklin's Gardens

Saints chairman Tony Hewitt said that the Buckingham Group was "a natural choice" and that the club would ensure the build kept to the previously-announced schedule.

He said: "Buckingham Group has built some outstanding sports stadiums in the UK, and we are confident they will do the same here at Franklin's Gardens and ensure that the Barwell Stand is something that we can be proud of."

"They are a local firm and have been very positive during our negotiations."

"We are looking forward to working with them closely over the coming months to ensure that the project remains on schedule and built to the highest standards."

Buckingham Group, which has its head office near Silverstone, has previously built the Silverstone Wing, the Copper Box arena at the Olympic Park in London, stadiumMK and the Amex Stadium in Brighton.

Franklin's Gardens' new £6 million development will complete the 'stadium bowl' and increase capacity to about 15,500.

Designed by Peter Haddon Partners, the Barwell Stand will replace the Sturtridge Pavilion at the north end of the stadium, parts of which are 50 years old.

Paul Wheeler, Buckingham Group chairman, said: "We are absolutely delighted to have been selected."

ROAD TEST – CITROEN C4 CACTUS FLAIR PURETECH 110

Stylish with all the basics

In an urgent stage whisper the navigator said: "Stop it, they'll think you've gone mad." She may be right.

The setting was a busy supermarket car park and the action which sparked the demand to stop immediately was me gently banging a shopping trolley into the side of the car you see pictured here.

Not as crazy as it sounds.

You'll have noticed the stand out visual feature of this teresting new hatchback from Citroen; the plastic padding down the sides and around the lights, front and rear.

Called Airbumps, they're intended to both make the C4 Cactus stand out from the crowd and take a bit of light trolley bashing without needing a trip to the paint shop.

They are also intended to show that Citroen is getting back to basics with a car that includes practical features but ditches anything that adds to cost or mere complication.

You'll find a big glovebox on top of the dash, generous door pockets and displays showing only important information.

The boot is big enough for family duties and the rear bench will seat adults without complaint.

An aim of the team behind the car was reducing the cost.

The range starts at £12,990 and tops out at £18,190. The lower reaches of the line up represent best value.

ANTIQUES VALUATION ROADSHOW COMES TO NORTHAMPTON

IN ALMOST every home in the country there is a corner where something of value lies hidden away that could be turned into cash.

That's the message organisers of the Pastcenturies Valuation Roadshow wish to impart as the company visits selected venues throughout England.

Often valuable and antique articles have been hidden away for security reasons and lie forgotten about. The good news is that many of these items have increased in value in recent years and are now sought after by collectors and dealers alike.

With many years of experience, and using the latest in information technology, we can value practically every type of object from paintings to porcelain, glass, bronze, art, jewellery. In fact most items of interest.

Pastcenturies are holding Antiques Venues throughout the Country. On a recent Roadshow an elderly gentleman had quite a surprise. He produced an 18 carat Gold pocketwatch. Although the watch was damaged beyond repair he received £720 for the Gold content alone. At the same event a lady was paid £600 for a group of World War One medals she had thought were of little value. These are common occurrences at the roadshows.

Free Valuations

With it's free valuation service, and no obligation to sell, what is there to lose? Bring along anything you think of interest, there's no limit to the amount of items. It may be well worth your while!
